Power Sources – Maine law requires retail electricity provides to periodically provide information to their customers of the mix of power sources used by the provider to serve their Maine customer's load.

Emissions – Carbon Dioxide is released when certain fuels are burned. It is considered a greenhouse gas and a major contributor to global warning. Nitrogen Oxides form when certain fuels are burned at high temperatures. They are considered contributors to acid rain and ground-level ozone (or smog). Sulfur Dioxide is formed when fuels containing sulfur are burned. Major health effects associated with SO2, include asthma, respiratory illness and aggravation of existing cardiovascular disease. The production of electricity can produce other environmental impacts. Environmental impacts differ among individual power plants.
